IMMEL CONSTRUCTION NAMED
NEXT GENERATION BEST PLACE TO WORK AWARD

By Greater Green Bay Chamber's Current Young Professionals

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 10, 2022

(Green Bay, WI) At Greater Green Bay Chamber's Future 15 & Young Professional Awards Ceremony on February 24th, Immel Construction was named the recipient of the Next Generation Best Place to Work award.

This award focuses on the next generation of workers and was awarded to a Green Bay company based on engagement in the community, work-life blend, generational diversity, attraction and retention initiatives, and management of talent.

At Immel Construction, our most significant resource is our people and the communities we serve. We strongly believe and act upon the idea that our employees, their families, and their health are number one priority. Our efforts to provide a well-balanced, prosperous work environment for our employees both personally and professionally have contributed greatly to Immel's culture of an employee-owner mindset.

Said best by Brian Wetzel, Vice President of Operations, at the awards ceremony, "Over the last 60 years, Immel Construction has truly grown alongside the Green Bay Community... It's personally a privilege to be in the position to see firsthand Immel Construction's growth, to both teach, and be taught by our next generation."

Immel Construction is a construction services company providing general construction, project management, estimating, and skilled craftsmen to meet the needs of the commercial, healthcare, industrial, and institutional markets.
