

Short Description:

Venus Lanzot, author of Butterflies Can't Swim, believes in the incredible potential that each child carries within them. Drawing on experiences from childhood to motherhood, her children's books are filled with heart, imagination, and magic. Through the power of storytelling, she hopes to inspire young hearts and minds.

Long Description:

Venus Lanzot has always been enchanted by the magic of stories. As a child, she was an avid reader. Her favorite books included classics like The Bernstein Bears, The Chronicles of Narnia, and Charlotte's Web. These stories sparked her imagination and inspired her to see the world from other perspectives.

As she grew older, Venus channeled her creativity into a successful career in marketing. Whether writing an email or delivering a presentation, her passion for storytelling enabled her to craft messages that had measurable reach and impact.

Today, Venus has returned to her first love: children's books. In her debut book, Butterflies Can't Swim, she hopes to share a valuable life lesson with young readers and spark compassion.

Venus has filled this story with heart. Drawing inspiration from her own childhood, she shares a central lesson about relationships in a child-friendly way. Whimsical, hand-drawn illustrations bring this tender story to life.

A creative spirit at heart, Venus enjoys yoga, good food, and nature. She spends most of her days with her daughter and their furry companion.

Join Venus Lanzot on a journey through the pages of her book, which is dedicated to nurturing the next generation of readers and dreamers.