The doors of the Maison Mère open

For the first time, the historic Mother House of the Congregation of the Mission, at 95 Rue de Sèvres in Paris, opens its doors to reveal a legacy that, four centuries later, is still very much alive.

Au Cœur de Paris takes us into the extraordinary story of Saint Vincent de Paul and a mission of charity, hospitality, and service to the poor that began in Paris and continues around the world today.

Created to mark the 400th anniversary of the Congregation of the Mission, the documentary tells not only the story of a place, but also the enduring power of a mission that continues to transform lives.

Watch it and help us share it.
