THE CONGREGATION OF THE MISSION AT 401 YEARS: HISTORICAL MEMORY, THEOLOGICAL DISCERNMENT AND PASTORAL COMMITMENT
401 years after its foundation, the Congregation of the Mission is called upon to preserve the memory of its charism and to reinterpret it in the context of the present day. Between theological discernment and pastoral zeal, the Vincentian legacy continues to point to the poor as a living place of conversion and mission.

Charity and discernment in Saint Vincent de Paul: giving priority to the poorest in times of scarcity
When everything seems urgent, how do we choose? St Vincent de Paul teaches us that true charity does not mean doing everything, but prioritising the poorest with discernment, courage and faith. An article to rediscover a wisdom that is more relevant than ever. Read Online

The shortage of vocations: when there is a lack of workers and faithfulness grows
When there is a shortage of workers, the mission does not stop: it is purified and returns to the essentials. St Vincent teaches us that true fruitfulness comes from faithfulness, not from numbers. Read Online

Holy Thursday with St Vincent: the Eucharist becomes service to the poor
On Holy Thursday, the Church contemplates Christ giving himself in the Eucharist and bending down to serve. Following the example of Saint Vincent, this mystery becomes a concrete call to charity towards the poor. [Read Online]
